

Resources

Resource Library

Federal Efforts to Combat Trafficking

Federal Government Efforts to Combat Human Trafficking

As the Office on Trafficking in Persons at the HHS Administration for Children and Families, we strive to establish a national system that serves survivors of all forms of trafficking by empowering existing service systems, forming partnerships, and coordinating federal and local responses.

The Trafficking Victims Protection Act of 2000 called for the creation of the President's Interagency Task Force to Monitor and Combat Trafficking in Persons to coordinate anti-trafficking efforts among various U.S. Federal government agencies.

Read more about the Task Force and other federal government reports on efforts to combat human trafficking.

The following federal government agencies are implementing programs to protect and assist victims of human trafficking and to capture and prosecute their traffickers.

Federal Agencies

Expand All